AT ST. JOSEPH. Old Man. ST, JOSEPH, Mo., May 11.-The Filley and anti-Filley fight is developing early in the action here. The anti-Filley crowd are the action here. The anti-Filley crowd are frank in stating their plans. They put their programme this way: No opposition to be made to the election of Mr. Filley as delegate at large to the St. Louis Convention; the continuance of Mr. Filley as Chairman of the State Central Committee to be conceded; two of the other three delegates at large to be Bittinger of St. Josephand Warner of Kansas City; the election of Filley to the National Republican Committee to be opposed. the National Republican Committee to be opposed.

The sensation of last night was a proposition made by Jim Beach, a Filley leader, to Maj. John L. Bittinger, concerning the Platte City Convention, which Bittinger explained this way: The two Fourth District delegates to St. Louis may cast the determining votes on National Committeerman fer Missouri. The convention to name the two Fourth District delegates will be held at Platte City to-day. The proposition made to Bittinger was that he should accept one of the two places as district delegate and allow a certain Filley man. Stephen S. Brown, to be elected alternate. In consideration of this action he was given to understand that he should be elected delegate at large by the State Convention. The result would be to give Filley the vote of the alternate for the National Committee.

Bittinger refused to go into the combine, and Filley denied that he instigated it. The fight promises to be a hard one. beyond dispute that the liveliest and most closely contested State convention ever held by the Missouri Republicans will be the one that meets in this city to-morrow. The

THE SANTA MONICA FIGHT.

Senator Berry Takes a Shy at the Big Grab.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON. D. C., May 11.—In the Senate this afternoon the opposition to the Santa Monica job in the river and harbor bill made a atrong fight along the line of attack mapped out by Senator White Saturday. Senator Berry of Arkansas spoke to more than hour. He fully explained the situation as between Santa Monica and San Pedro and made clear that Huntington's opposition to San Pedro was due to the fact that he could not secure a monopoly of the wharfage and railroad lines.

There were several sharp colloquies between Senators Berry and Frye, in which the Senators from Arkansas gave, in spite of Mr. Frye's protest, the names of the Senators who in committee voted against the $3,000,000 for Santa Monica.

The poll of the Senate made by those interested shows that there are forty-three Senators against Santa Monica, forty for it and six in doubt.

be re-elected to the National Committee.
Major John Bittinger declares that a vast majority of the country delegates are irretrievably committed to his programme and ho backs up the assertion with interesting figures. He says that when the delegation to the National convention assembles to elect these votes: One from the First District, one from the Second, and the delegates of the Fourth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Fifteenth District, give him 18 of the 34 votes. He asserts that Parks of the First District, though elected as a Filleyite, has kicked over the traces and pledged himself to Kerens, and that Swanger, of the Second, has done the same thing. Bittinger's District convention (the Pourth), meets to-day at Platte City to elect delegates to St. Louis, but will probably adjourn without transacting any business pending the outcome of the State convention. This means that Bittinger is liable to enter the lists against Filley at St. Joe, and if he is turned down for delegate-at-large, then his district convention will reassemble and line of the state of the state of the state convention. Uncle Filley scoffs at all this talk of the poposition and characterizes it as mere pluster. "I don't intend to yield an inch to kerens," said he to the Post-Dispatch, and you can tell him so." Then "De Ole dan" handed the correspondent a fac simile of the ballot cast by Nat Frank in November, 184, showing that Frank had scratched dudge P. R. Fliteraft for Moses N. Sale, and also scratched Gernez, Troil and Wait. This proves Nat Frank to be a chronic solter," said Uncle Filley joyfully, "and won't allow him any standing in this convenience."

In Nicaragua.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May II.—Minister Baker at Managua, Nicaragua, has cabled the States Department that a citizen of the United States named Daniel Morton is in Matagalpa in a demented and helpless condition, and that there is no institution in that country in which he can be cared for Mr. Baker says the man came to Nicaragua from California about three years ago and is a United States pensioner.

THE WEATHER.

The extent to which the feeling of the Filleyites runs against Kerens was illustrated by a bold threat being proclaimed in every group of which he is a member by Councilman Uthorf of St. Louis. Uthorf is one of the Tweifth District delegates elected by Uncle Filley's convention at Harmonie Hall last Tuesday. "If McKinley or McKinley's representatives show any favors, or make any promises to Dick Kerens, then I will vote against McKinley at St. Louis in June," is the threat Uthoff is making to day.

The tragedy occurred at 8:20 o'clock Sun-day night in the rear of August Fuchs' saloon and cheap lodging-house, 432 South Third street, in the first block south of the Cleveland House, where Thomas Reynolds was murdered and buried on St. Patrick's day.

The cause of the difficulty is enveloped in mystery, owing to the reticence of Fuchs and his lodgers, but it is reasonably certain that Estelle and Ruth Brown, sisters, are responsible in the sense that the fight originated over an alleged wrong committed against them by Pellmann.

Estelle is 26 years old. Ruth is 23. They occupy a single room in the rear of Fuchs' place. For geveral months Estelle had been Several days ago he told Fuchs that Rohan and Powell had taken a man into the girls' rooms and that the stranger had been robbed.

This angered the men, who regarded Pellmann as a tale bearer, and the tragedy was precipitated by the arrest Sunday afternoon of the Brown girls, charged with being inmates of a disorderly house. They were released about 6 o'clock and at once returned to the house. Rohan and Powell were waiting for them. Both men had been drinking.

Pellmann backed up against the wall of George Richards saloon, on Spruce street, and Murray landed a blow on his neck that made further resistance impossible.

The prisoner was turned over to Sergt. Grass and Patrolman Tebeau and taken to the Four Courts.

An ambulance was summoned and Powell was conveyed to the City Hospital. He died at 2:15 o'clock Monday morning without having regained consciousness.

Rohan's body was taken to the Morgue in the same ambulance.

The officers went to the house and arrested the following persons who are detained as witnesses for the Coroner:

Miles Howard, George Obert, Charles Wittman, Fred Meyer, August Yuchs, Nicholas Schott and the Brown sisters.

The Brown girls deny that they robbed anybody and claim to have no idea why the crime was committed.

Ruth knew Pellmann by sight and had exchanged greetings with him a few times in passing. Estelle did not know him.

The girls possess a fair education. Their father, Robert Brown, Eyears of age, sells goods on commission for a small store at 212 South Fourth street. He boards at the Erie House, Fourth street and Clark avenue.

He has been visiting his daughters daily, and tried to persuade them to give up the life they have been leading. They promised to do so as soon as he could make money enough to support them, and were anxious for the change.

Pellmann has no home in particular. Rohan sometimes worked at Glen Carbon, Ill., as a fireman in the zinc works. His relatives are said to live at Clinton, Io.

Powell was a laborer. He came here from Michigan.

The inquest will be held at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

FALLING WALLS INJURE FIREMEN

Eight Men Hurt During the Metropolitan Restaurant Fire.

THE CHIEF IS CRITICISED.

Men Were Sent on a Wall Against Which Heavy Streams of Water Were Playing.

This was all that was left of the Metropolitan restaurant, of which Pietri was the manger.

Fire had gutted it from the alley to the street, from the basement to the roof.

On account of these rumors several prominent men made direct inquiry. One of them said that he had been assured that there was not the slightest possibility of such an event. He said that Gov. McKinley had in no wise changed his plans or ever had any intention of leaving his home city during the months of the campaign, in event of his nomination.

Another story, which has wide circulation had been the too. And Mrs. McKinley would zogourn during the summer on the Jersey coast in acceptance of an invitation which had been tendered him. While such an invitation and many others have been extended, they have not been accepted, and Gov. McKinley does not expect to go to the Jersey coast or any other place for any extended vacation. He will spend the summer at his Canton home.

daring one, but not a man flinched. Chief Swingley was on the scene and they were obeying orders even though they led to death.

Policeman Jerry Crane stood across the street keeping the excited crowd from rushing into danger.

He saw Bridge start up the ladder and, following him with his eyes, wondered at his heroism.

Then he saw something which made him doubt his senses. The wall above the firemen's head was trembling, but still the hose played on. Another instant and it shook more violently, bulged outward and then down it came with a terrific crash.

Crane saw Bridge bend his back to resist the weight of debris, and turning to see which way he might escape, he found a stairway just behind him and dodged up it three or four steps to safety.

In a second the street was filled again with firemen and policemen helping their wounded comrades from beneath the ruins.

Those most seriously injured were Willam O'Donnell, Adolph Hunt, Albert Webber of Engine Co. No. 26; George Ost of Truck No. 18; H. T. Bridge of Engine Co. No. 3; George Ost of Truck No. 18; H. T. Bridge of Engine Co. No. 4.

Ost and Hunt were sent to St. Mary's Infirmary; Cronin to St. John's Hospital and the rest of the men to their homes.

Ost and Hunt were the worst hurt, but their injuries are not considered dangerous. They have scalp wounds and badly bruised backs. This was also the nature of the other men's hurts.

Chief Swingley is being criticised for keeping his men in so dangerous a position and especially for playing a stream against the inside of the wall with the firemen in the street. He admits that this probably caused the accident, but says it was unavoidable owing to the rotten concition of the building.

The building was owned by James A. Deaver of $201 Theodosia avenue. The restaurant was run by a company of which Pietri was manager and a stockholder. The total loss is estimated at $30,000. The insurance on the building is $10,000. The insurance on the building is $10,000. The insurance, $10,000. The insurance on the building is $10,000. The insurance, $2,500; Greenwich, $3,000.

Mr. Pietri Rnew nothing of the fire until he came to work. He said his loss was about $10,000. His insurance was about $4,000.

The Metropolitan Restaurant was a well-known place. Down-stairs there was a regular restaurant, while the two upper floors which couples who like privacy during meals were won' to patronize.

It got into financial difficulties a short time ago and Julea Dossain, now the steward of the Country Club, and Alex Kammerer, who were then interested in it with Pietri, pulled out. A reorganization was effected and Pietri remained.

Formally the building was occupied by Winter's saloon and was a great gathering place for river men when steamboating was in its prime.

UNPRECEDENTED HOT SPELL

Have Been Springs With Warmer Days, But They Were Infrequent in the history of the U longed a term of hot weather at this season Nothing like it has ever been known, and while no records for abnormally hot weath er have been broken, the continuous high temperature in itself breaks all records. Dr. H. C. Frankenfield, the local observer said that Monday was the thirty-second consecutive day with a temperature above the normal.

"This heated term began April 18," said the doctor, "and has continued without abatement. The first nine days of April witnessed average temperatures. For the month of April the average temperature was 65 degrees. This is 8 degrees above the highest normal and it is 4 degrees above the highest normal temperature for April experienced in twenty-six years. There is no record of hot weather similar to that of April of this year. It is so far ahead as to permit of no comparison.

"The mean temperature for the first ten days of May is 11 degrees above the normal, and on two occasions the mercury has reached the 90 mark. The record for May is 92 degrees. Notwithstanding the unusually high mean temperature so far this month, it does not equal the mean for the corresponding period in 1886. Then the mean was 76 degrees.

"On the lith of May last year the weather changed and a lower temperature prevailed. Indications are that history will repeat itself and there will be cooler weather in a few days.

"The rainfall for April was 1.36 inches short. The normal rainfall is $79 and the rainfall for April this year was only 1.48 inches. All but one inch of this fell on one day, the 29th.

"In May there has only been 19 of an inch of rainfall, and this was on May 1.

"This unusual high temperature has prevailed in all the territory east of the Rocky Mountains, except on the Atlantic coast, and it is now commencing there. It has been particularly felt in the great river valleys and in the lake regions. said that Monday was the thirty-seconsecutive day with a temperature abo apolis and Chicago have even had marmer weather.

"The causes have been the persistency of a high barometric area in the East and the Southeast, preventing the eastward movement of a low area which covers the entire West. This has caused continuous warm winds from the south. The high area still persists this morning, but there are signs of its disappearance.

"While dry and warm weather has prevailed in the winter wheat beit there have been just enough changes of temperature and shifting of winds in the spring wheat beit in the extreme Northwest to cause daily showers."

A rig was hired early Sunday afternoon from A. Kron's livery stable, 2124 North Tenth street, by Benjamin Klein, of 2321 Hebert street. Klein wanted to take Miss Katle Steel, who is said to live near Twenty-third and Hebert street, driving.

The couple had been away about an hour when word reached the stable that Klein was driving the horse as if he had entered him in the Inaugural. Tracers were sent out. While they heard of Klein and the horse at every point, they falled to come up with him. Before they returned to the stable, Klein and bis companion had driven in. The horse was panting and covered with foam.

The second set of indistments was noise presequied by order of Circuit Atterney Zachrits Jan. 12, 1892, each the ground that the evidence was not sufficient to convict.

Instead of stopping in the stable, Klein drove right through and out into the alley in the rear, urging the horse on as he passe through. He paid no heed to the comman of August Kron, Jr., to stop and that young man jumped into a buggy with one of the stable-men and started in pursuit.

The race soon became exciting. Kron was joined by a great crowd on foot, many of them in their shirt sleeves. Those on foot were soon distanced, but Kron continued the mad race.

REV. DR. BOYD ON PUBLIC SCHOOLS

An Arraignment of the by sites Based on Familiar Fac.

MANY SCANDALS PEV /ED.

Good Results Not to Be Expanded From Schools Controlled by Corrept and Ignorant Men.

"Our Public Schools" was the subject of the sixth lecture in the course on Municipal Corruption delivered by Rev. Dr. W. W. Boyd at the Second Baptist Church Sunday

The doctor said, in opening, that every thoughtful person acknowledged the value of intelligence as the foundation of personal character. He favored compulsory education and said that within thirty years of the landing of the Pilgrims education had been made compulsory in all the colonies save landing of the Pilgrims education had been made compulsory in all the colonies save Rhode Island.

"Our public school system," said the pastor, "is a splendid example of philanthropy as well as of civic self-defense. It is, as the author of 'Gesta Christi' puts it, 'A foreible distribution of wealth to confer the highest possible blessings on the needy. It is a confession of society that the most ignorant, degraded and destitute person is a brother of the most fortunate and must have every opportunity to exert his powers.'

"From every point of view the education of our children is the most important interest of society. It should be a matter of just felicitation that the public schools of St. Louis have ranked among the most efficient in the United States.

"But within the past few years a serious peril to the efficiency and reputation of our public school system has arisen. Up to the present it has not threatened the actual work of the schools themselves. It has not yet invaded the schoolroom and the department of teaching, but it is absolutely sure to do so in the near future if not promptly met and overcome by an aroused public sentiment. It has already wrought harm and its inevitable fruitage will be a demoralized public school system to which educators in other cities will refer to 'point a moral or adorn a tale."

"This alarming peril is the open and avowed introduction of partisan politics into rn a tale."

This alarming peril is the open and wed introduction of partisan politics into School Board. The directors of our pubschools hold the same relation to the pol system as the corporations and trusdo to the colleges or universities, and necessary qualifications of both are the ic.

the necessary qualifications of both are the same.

"They should be broad-minded, unselfish, intelligent, disinterested men and women; if possible, liberally educated, or at least such as have some knowledge of education and real sympathy with its exalted aims. An institution of learning is certain in time to take its tone from its managing board. And our schools in the end will be of no higher grade than are the members of the School Board. When we deliberately set our ideal of the managing board to be this, to proscribe one class and to pander to the bad passions of another, to select our educators by the badge of party or of religion or irreligion, then the knell is rung that summons our free schools to irremediable ruin.

"Common sense and practical experience both demonstrate that municipal corruption is most rank where politics means patronage and public plunder. And that, and only that, is just what politics in public school matters means.

"The intellectual and moral training of our children is to be lost sight of in a scramble for offices which pay ne salary, but which offer a chance for dishonest men to steal. And if such a state of affairs is once firmly established what will be its reflex influence upon the pupils in the schools but to confirm in their minds the belief that the highest end of man is to be a boodler?"

belief that the highest end of man is to be a 'boodler?'

"The beginning in the decline of our noble school system has already been made.

"At the recent School Board election the representatives of a great party in making nominations adopted this resolution: 'Resolved, That all candidates nominated at this convention be instructed to enter a caucus of the Republican members of the School Board and be guided by the decision of the caucus in matters pertaining to the shaping of the public school system in accordance with Republican principles, and candidates accepting nominations of this convention so pledge themselves.'

"There are at present in the board ten Republicans bound to act as a unit by this resolution. If six of them combine to carry out any project the other four must surrender their conscience, judgment and independent convictions and vote for it. These ten we will call caucus Republicans.

man having resigned for reasons I shall soon state.

"Here are ten against ten. It is a matter of great importance, therefore, to the ten caucus members to elect another caucus Republican in Mr. Diekman's place, for then they will have eleven out of twenty-one members, and can carry any measure they desire.
"Now what do the caucus Republicans do? Through their President of the board, a caucus man, they appoint a committee on the election of a member to succeed Mr. Diekman. This committee is composed of seven Republicans and one Democrat. Why the election of a member to succeed Mr. Diekman. This committee is composed of seven Republicans and one Democrat. Why was but one Democrat put on this committee? In order that if he made any motion he would have no seconder to it. It was an open, bare-faced plan to cheat the Democratic members out of all representation on the committee, and so to swindle them out of proper judges and clerks at the coming election. The six caucus men were determined to add an eleventh man to their caucus, and in order to gain their point they resorted to this transparent fraud. If this was 'in accordance with Republican principles,' may God save us from any further exhibitions of such Republicans and the one Democrat on the committee proceeded to appoint forty-two judges and clerks, all of them alleged Republicans. This clear violation of the election law was carried to the Supreme Court, which ordered the board to obey the law and give to both parties equal representation. The committee met, heard the mandate of the court, re-appointed twenty-one of the same judges and twenty-one others, who it is claimed are politicians of an uncertain quality, either Democrats on the board.

The whole board has been ordered to Jefferson City to answer for contempt of court, and it would be a public blessing if some of them could be kept there for an indefinite period at the expense of the School Rears.

"For example. One member, in order to get around the law requiring all directors to be taxpayers, buys a piece of ground $2 feet for $35. He bought it from a real estate agent who is so public spirited that he keeps lots from 1½ feet to 4 feet in width to sell to such disabled politicians. It is alleged that this purchase was made after his election to the board, but with great adroitness the date was changed so as to read prior to his election. And this man was chairman of an important committee which had absolute control of the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars.

"Another more distressing scandal was that exposed by the affidavit of a responsible citizen, who charged that the Building Committee, in April, 1892, had demanded $3,500 as a bonus for a contract to put elevators and lights into the Board of Education Building. The contract was awarded to the highest and not to the lowest hidder, for $17,576. A gentleman notorious at present in board matters was then temporary chairman of the Building Committee. Five months later this same man recommended that the Enterprise Brass Co. be given a contract for gas and electric fixtures for $10,719. The lowest bid was $4,750. The deal was $4,750. The deal was all ready to go through, but the newspapers raised such a storm of protest that it was defeated.

"A member of the board, contrary to law, papers raised such a storm of protest that it was defeated.

"A member of the board, contrary to law, held the office of Deputy Sheriff for fifteen months, while serving as director. This caused such a public scandal that he resigned his office of Deputy Sheriff at $100 per month and retained his office of director, which has no salary.

"It is alleged another member of the board who has no visible means of support, has gotten together a snug little property and in eight months has turned over to a relative $18,000 worth of public work. It is further alleged that he voted to pay his felative for air ducts in school-houses which had been made two weeks before the farce of advertising for bids for the same was acted on. The bids were paper bids, not even intended to be genuine.

"In the proposal for bids to erect the six new school-houses last fall the name of a certain sone was inserted as the necessary and required building material. It was virtually making a monopoly in the interest of a certain quarry man. Once more the newspapers came to the rescue and forced the board to resolnd the contract and remove the objectionable requirement. Then the Building Committee manipulated and jumbled the contracts so as to make the construction of the buildings cost $1,000 more per room than was even required in the contracts which permitted the stone monopoly.

This explains why some men will give up a position with a salary attachment to retain one that pays no salary."

In conclusion Dr. Boyd said: "Here is a wide field for municipal investigation and reform. If the Civic Federation meets the question fearlessly it can be mastered. We would seek first to secure the election of fit persons to the board. No party nor church should control the schools. All people pay taxes and should have a voice in the control."

The doctor concluded with an appeal to all persons interested in the welfare of the schools to unite with the Civic Federation in the upbuilding and proper maintenance of the schools, and see that the system is again brought to the high plane it must and should occupy.

affairs of J. B. M. Kehlor & Co. have nothing to do with those of Keblor Bros., millers. The latter firm does not owe a dollar to any one and never has."

Waiter Johnson, bookkeeper for J. B. M. Kehlor & Co., said: "We are checking up the books of the firm for the past four years and will know nothing about the way the affairs stand until that is finished. The money was lost."

He also made a somewhat vague reference to the loss of money by the firm through the unwise extension of a line of credit to parties outside the city.

Though it may have no bearing on the $20,000 shortage said to exist in Kehlor & Co.'s finances, it is stated on 'Change that the determination to go out of business was to some extent due to the loss of the cash business of the United States Elevator Co. When Mr. Kehlor was a heavy stockholder in the Elevator Co. his firm did a large proportion of the cash grain business for the company. Last July Mr. Kehlor sold out his entire stock holdings in the company and was superseded as a director. The cash business was naturally transferred to another firm allied with the elevators. This meant a heavy diminution of receipts for commissions.

A MINISTER CREMATED. Rev. Charles Bradley's Body Was Reduced to Ashes.

Rev. Dr. Charles F. Bradley of the Quincy (Ill.) Unitarian Church, who died recently, was a unique character. An advanced thinker and lecturer on sociology he coveted distinction even in death and de he coveted distinction even in death and desired to go down in church annals as the first minister whose body was cremated. His wishes were conformed to and Sunday afternoon at the Missouri Crematory his body was committed to the furnace. Aside from a dirge from the Crematory Chapel organist and a brief speech from Dr. C. J. Tibbetts of Quincy there was no ceremony.

Plucked by Pickpockets. The opening of the Southern Electric railway extension to Jefferson Barracks Sunday was numerously attended by pick-pockets, who industriously piled their nefarious art among the large crowd. Among those who reported losses to the police were Mrs. Kate Stevenson, 917 Wyoming street, purse and 10; Mrs. Mary Luctmon, 1403 South Seventh, purse and 33, and Mrs. James Barrett, 518 Wash, purse and 40.

A Beiligerent Thief. Anton Comiskey was apprehended by Officer Stader while in the act of puriolining a watch from the pocket of Anton Swegge of 1203 Biddle street, Sunday night. Comiskey resisted arrest, striking the officer with a bowlder, splitting an eyelld, and the officer clubbed Comiskey into submission. Both were taken to the Dispensary, where their hurts were dressed and Comiskey locked in a cell at the Four Courts.

Discussed Candidates.

Eleventh Congressional District Democrats held a meeting Sunday afternoon at MoFerr's Hall, Coleman and North Market, to discuss probable candidates for the coming nominating convention. f. J. Lyman presided. Dr. Otto E. Forster appears to be the favorite, while John /. Lee, O'Neill Ryan, ex-Mayor Noonan and dex-Congressman John J. O'Neill are als favorably mentioned.

The question of forming an international federation of the six orders represented was discussed at great length, but sentiment was all one way. When the vote was taken there was a unanimous affirmative.

The action of the meeting does not in itself effect the federation. The members of the Grand Lodges of the six bodies will take the matter under advisement at a meeting to be held in the near future. The delegates, however, have little doubt that it will of the delegates as unanimously expressed yesterday will be complied with and that the federation will be complied with and that the federation will be an established fact before the snow flies.

The federation will have a grand council, whose members will be selected from the six orders. It is estimated that 187,000 railway employes will be affiliated with the new organization. The apportionment will be Conductors, 22,000; engineers, 25,000; brakemen, 45,000; firemen, 25,000; switchmen, 30,000, and telegraph operators, 40,000.

"We have only one object in seeking to form an international federation. We desire to prevent strikes. The six orders will still retain their individuality and operate as heretofore under the same system, but will be represented in the federation."

Another matter of moment at Sunday's proceedings was the passage of the following resolution:

When Mrs. Mike Peter took her children to the cemetery yesterday to put a bunch of flowers on the baby's grave, she left her husband alone at home. The neighbors say he was too drunk to accompany her. She had been gone an hour or so when Tom Spearman, a colored man, happened to look over at the Peters' house, 2711 Oregon avenue. He saw Mike Peter hanging out of the attic window.

The sash had fallen and was holding Peter fast. He hung there, head downward, his face congested and his eyes bulging from their sockets.

Spearman shouted to him and got no reply. He pounded on the door and, finding it locked, crawled through an open window and ran up to the attic. At the top of the stairs he stepped into a pool of blood.

Raising the window, Spearman grabbed Peter and dragged him into the attic, but as soon as he saw the distorted features and glassy eyes he let the body drop to the floor. Then he ran out of the house, shouting to the neighbors that Peter was dead.

shouting to the neighbors that Peter was dead.

It was first thought that Peter had committed suicide, but subsequent investigation showed that his death was an accident.

When Mrs. Peter and the children started for the cemetery, Peter was trembling all over from a spree of the night before. In his maudlin condition he imagined that all his pain was caused by a corn on his right foot.

He got a bucket of hot water and went up to the attic to soak the corn. When it was soft he started to pare it, but the knife slipped and gashed into an artery. Peter tried to stop the flow of blood by tying a cord around his leg, but it didn't stop and he got frightened, thinking he would bleed to death.

He went to the window, leaned out over the sill and shouted for help. The prop came out from under the sash and the sash fell on his back, holding him fast with head hanging downward.

He couldn't help himself, so he laid there and died.

cursions on the steamer Grand Republic and the first outing for the bables will take place June 23.

In the meantime, it is necessary to raise funds, not only to defray the boat expenses, but the infants and their mothers have to have refreshments during the day, and it takes money to provide all these things, for at every outing the big boat will have all it can carry in human freight.

The season is nearing when the well-to-do and wealthy will close their comfortable homes for the heated term and repair to lake shore, mountain side and ocean resorts, and before they go the board wishes to remind them of a humane duty they can do before departing, and that is to trench just a little on their well-filled purses and donate a pittance in behalf of the poor, who seldom get a breath of fresh summer air. In order to do this the board has employed a reliable solicitor, who, with duly certified credentials, will call upon those that can well afford it and ask for contributions to this worthy charity.

Heretofore ganerous merchants have contributed tea, crackers, coffee, milk and other edibles for lunching on the boat and such contributions this year are again asked.

Mrs. S. Bass, President of the society, and her philanthropic assistants will see that every cent and all supplies donated is carefully and judiciously handled.

The management of the Choral Symphony Society received a telegram Sunday from the physician of the prima donna, Miss Emma Juch, stating that she has laryn Emma Juch, stating that she has laryngitis, and could not possibly appear at Music Hall in St. Louis Monday night to take the leading role in Haydn's "Creation," the closing concert of the society.

Telegrams were at once sent Mmes. Nordica, Klaffsky and Brema, asking if they could come at any price, but all answered in the negative.

Through the kind offices of the Western Choral Union of Chicago Miss Electa Gifford, who has a charming soprano voice, will fill the role of Miss Juch. Miss Gifford has recently scored decided successes as a soloist in the Symphony concerts at Chicago.

DR. BOYD RESIGNS.

Retires From the Board of Managers o the Baptist Sanitarium.

The troubles of the Missouri Baptist San itarium have been increased by the resig-nation of Rev. Dr. W. W. Boyd, pastor of and Baptist Church, from the Board of Managers. Dr. Boyd broke the news to in the church on account of rival institu-tions, he had advocated a union of the

He said that in order to forestall a breach in the church on account of rival institutions, he had advocated a union of the Sanitarium with the St. Louis Baptist Hospital. He believed that this was imperative in order to avoid a division in the churches as to the distribution of hospital funds. The majority of the board did not agree with him and he resigned in order not to become a party to an entanglement in his own church.

Dr. Boyd's resignation from the Sanitarium Board has started anew the controversy which commenced when Dr. W. H. Mayfield, physician in charge of the Sanitarium, submitted his resignation. Now that Dr. Boyd has gone, the Sanitarium officers have taken fright and made overtures to the St. Louis Baptist Hospital for a union. Each side has made demands that cannot be reconciled, and in the meantion to start a private hospital opposite the Sanitarium. The result will be a struggle between three Baptist hospitals.

The difficulty in the way of a union between the Missouri Baptist Sanitarium and the St. Louis Baptist Hospital is the desire of Dr. Morris, Superintendent of the hospital, to succeed Dr. Mayfield as Medical Superintendent of the sanitarium want Dr. Morris to be content to be joint Superintendent with a Dr. Wilkes of Bowling Green, Mo. but Dr. Morris will not be a party to such an arrangement. He has built up a large practice and he is a rival of Dr. Mayfield among the Baptists of the State and feels that single-handed he can cope with Mayfield if the latter starts a private hospital oposite the sanitarium.

Dr. Wilkes is being pushed by Dr. Paul Y. Tupper, a member of Delmar Avenue Baptist Church, this city, and some persons are unkind enough to say that the Bowling Green man would be only a cloak for his St. Louis sponser and the college with which the latter is connected. Thus the physicians are playing their little game for the sanitarium by the St. Louis Medical Society as a proof of his false position of the Sanitarium by a cloak for his addicted to opium.

Is thought she will recover.

But for the Tare presence of mind displayed by her husband, Mrs. Goldner would certainly have burned to death.

She struck a match for the purpose of lighting a fire in the kitchen stove. The match broke, the lighted end falling upon her dress. She did not notice where the match fell and a moment later her dress was in fames. Hearing her screams, Mr. Goldner ran from an adjoining room. He hastly secured a blanket and, throwing it around her, extinguished the fire. A physician found that the old lady was badly burned upon the right side, the mest serious injury being to her shoulder and arm, and it was at first feared the result would be fatal.

The child was born five weeks ago, but its present weight is less than two pounds. Its parents are an exceptionally healthy looking couple. They live in the second story of a rickety tenement in the rear of 1020 North Ninth street.

The father is an industrious colored man, 39 years of age. The mother is 25. She is the sister of Charles Wilson, who was killed by Spencer Bradshaw at Seventh and O'Fallon streets two months ago, and it is believed that to the grief and excitement occasioned by the murder of her brother the arrested development of the baby is attributable.

the arrested development of the baby is attributable.

Although the midget has lived for five weeks, the doctors say the chances for its surviving much longer are silm.

The father of the Liliputian has already been approached by museum managers with regard to piacing the little fellow on exhibition, but he says that he will never agree to anything of the sort.

Some idea of the size of the baby may be gathered from the statement that his wrists are not as large around as his mother's fingers. He is a little over twelve inches in length. Many a little girl in the neighborhood plays with a doll larger than he is.

Last night Miss Bourk, one of the nurses, was leading the woman down to the bath-room. Around Gertie's wrist was a leather bracelet, to which was attached a strap. At the sight of water she became desperate and made a lunge for liberty.

Miss Bourk turned around quickly enough to see the fleeting form of Gertie disappearing down the back stairway. She is supposed to have scaled the hospital inclosure on the Lafayette avenue side.

Gertie is said to be a "dope" flend. The Workhouse authorities will entertain her two weeks longer if Dr. Sutter calls her back again.

At the conclusion of the fifth race she missed her jewels and reported her loss to Chief Harrigan.

Miss Palestine was not in when a reporter called at 1722 Olive street, and Mrs. Allison did not know when she would return. Miss Palestine or Hopkins has been rooming there for a week and Mrs. Allison does not know where she came from nor how long she has been in the city, nor had she ever seen Miss Palestine's jewels.

Inasmuch as the lady carried her jewels in her bosom, beneath her corsets, the police do not think she lost them by having her pockets picked.

Yesterday's Bunday Post-Dispatch showed the proper amount of expansion under the genial influence of the summer warmth. It contained 114 columns of paid advertising, as compared with 91 columns in the corresponding Sunday issue of 1895, and 88 columns in the corresponding Sunday issue of 1893. This showed a gain of 25 per cent over 1895 and 30 per cent over 1893. Thus the growth of advertising keeps pace with the growth of circulation. The city circulation of the Sunday Post-Dispatch equals that of the Sunday Globe-Demoerat and Republic combined.

IOWA OFFSETS MICHIGAN.

The loss of Michigan by the free silver en, after they had elected a majority of the State Convention, was undoubtedly a discouraging setback to the cause of bimetallism. It showed that the Whitney-Brice-Gorman method of campaigning had been resorted to for obtaining control of the Chicago Convention; and ts apparently easy success at Detroit startled free silver men everywhere with the apprehension that similar results might be achieved in other States.

The indications now are that the trimph of boodle and bulldozing in Michigan has had a beneficial rather than a hurtful effect. Instead of dampening the enthusiasm of free silver men elsewhere, it has stimulated their ardor. It has made them more watchful. It has taught them to be on guard against the Federal officeholder and the boodler. It has warned them of has made them distrustful of the proxy. It certainly failed to depress the activity of the silver men in Iowa. The emocratic State Convention at Dubuque will mark one of the greatest triumphs of the free silver cause. Even by free silver men Iowa was classified among the doubtful States. But Gov. Boles and the friends of honest bimetallism have wore a signal and decisive victory. Up to Children, composed of a number of the nost philanthropic women in the comleast philanthropic women in the of 400 are instructed for free silver and ride fresh air excursions during the about 100 are gold men. He gave facts and figures to by every man, woman and showing the utter disregard for public ency, contempt for law, and the boodling practices of Bus and his fellow cauagainst society for a community not to vention fund for her. provide the best possible education for its children, and pointed out the demoralization that threatens the public schools of St. Louis, hitherto considered the best in the United States, owing to the unclean example and depraved meth ods of the gang of political banditti that has gained control of them.

In standing up so stoutly in defense of the purity and efficiency of our public school system Dr. Boyd is discharging at once his highest duty as a Christian minister and as an American citizen If his professional brethren in other hurches will join their voices to his in condemning the invasion of our public schools by political tricksters and plunderers, it will make all the easier th scourging of these creatures from the places of honor which they defile.

"COIN" HARVEY WAS RIGHT.

The gold standard newspapers are try ing to discredit Mr. W. H. Harvey be cause in a recent speech he challenged anyone to find a word about the demon etization of silver in any newspaper pul lished in February, 1873, on the 12th of which month "the crime of 1873" was stealthily perpetrated. The goldbur organs claim that the challenge is met because the Omaha Bee contained report of the proceedings of Congress at which the deed was done. As everyone knows, the bill that demonetized silver purported to be a bill to "reform the mint, regulate the coin age and fix up one thing and another, as Senator Thurman described it. Mr Harvey did not challenge the finding of a report about the passage of a bill with such a purport. He challenged the finding of a word about the demonetization of silver in any newspaper of that period. And, as a matter of fact, neither the newspapers of February, 1873, nor iblic men of that day knew that this oill was intended to or had demonetize

Even President Grant, who signed the bill, was not aware of its real purport. The bill had a fraudulent heading; it was never printed in advance, being a substitute for the printed bill; it was never read at the clerk's desk, the readng being dispensed with under the im-pression that the bill made no material hange in the coinage laws; it was passed with little discussion, debate being out off by operation of the previous ques-ion. Only the sew conspirators who had Mr. Harvey was right. The Omeha

About a year ago the Nashville An ican, which had long been one of the leading Democratic newspapers of the South and a consistent advocate of free silver coinage, passed under the control of the goldbugs and became a gold stand-ard organ. Dr. W. S. McAllee of Miller County has been prevalled upon to make the race for the Senatorial nomination in his district. "He is a conservative business man, an active Democrat and is popular among all classes," so says the Eldon Advertiser.

The Fayette Leader says: Col. J. L. Pace, the efficient Warden of the penitentiary, has declined to run for State Auditor, which leaves the field open to the present incumbent. J. M. Selbert, than whom Missouri never had an abler Auditor.

The Holden, Johnson County, Enterprise says the friends of Hon. T. J. Whitsett are anxious for him to make the race for representative. He is an able, experienced man, and the Democrats would have a strong standard-bearer if he would consent to run.

The Daily Democrat-News of Marshall says: "A citizen of Centralia made a poll of the town for Governor and found that five favored Dave Ball, seven Judge Gibson and eighty-eight were for Lon Stephens. This makes it nearly unanimous for Stephens at that place.

Church of Pittsburg. More or Less Disfigured.

From the St. Joseph (Mo.) Gazette. The St. Louis Republic deplores the intro-duction of the money question into the election of delegates from Cook County to the Illinois Democratic State Convention. This is not surprising. The Republic has just emerged, more or less disfigured, from a similar fracas in this State, in which the money question was extensively discussed and as far as the Democrats of Missour are concerned, effectually settled. The Re public knows that a licking is in store for its goldbug friends just east of the Mississippi.

From the New York Sun. It may be true enough that McKinley, like the gentleman in Dr. Holmes' poem, says such an obvious thing in such a serious way that he is regarded as the champion of the serious thing; but it would be difficult to find anybody, outside of Canton and Philadalphia, who is appraisable to the champion of the serious thing; but it would be difficult to find anybody, outside of Canton and Philadalphia, who is appraisable to the champion of the champ delphia, who is worrying about a, the, or any protective tariff. Irrespective of the feelings of the Constitution, protection has the run of the country. By Republican be-lief and Democratic default it is accepted. and it is as easy to get excited over it as over the obliquity of the ecliptic.

Correct Way to Put on Court Plaster Correct Way to Put on Court Plaster.

Did you ever notice the way a physician prepares the court plaster for a wound? First, fold the piece lengthwise directly through the middle. The plaster should be considerably larger than the wound, to keep well over the edges. Then slash the plaster lengthwise nearly to the edge. Straighten the court plaster out flat, and cut the slashed pieces at opposite ends. Place the straight edges of the court plaster to the flesh on either side of the wound, bringing the strips across the wound. Moisten them, and, taking a strip from each side, draw them together gently, closing the cut, and stick the plaster in place. Continue with all the strips, and the cut will be dressed in a manner to insure a perfect healing, and as well as any doctor could do it.

Imported Cheap Labor.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

While the silver question may be of vital importance to the welfare of the poorer lastic advocates of free silver would vasti; siastic advocates of free silver would vastly improve their ability as voters by pausing to consider other questions of importance. Of these immigration is one of the most prominent, although, strange to say, statesmen avoid the subject as though it were dangerous in the extreme. Can these men fail to see the disadvantage to American labor of the importation of cheap labor, throwing American workmen out of employment? No, they do not fail to see this, but they care more for the favor of the manufacturers than for that of their deluded constituents, as the former often possesses a high money value.

Adding Insult to Injury.

To the Editor of The Post-Dispatch.

I see in the Globe-Democrat of late issue where it called the silver dollar a "dishonest dollar," a "So-cent dollar," etc. I think it and all other gold-standard papers ought to be ashamed, after its party having made the honest old silver dollar what they now call it.

To tantalise the voters of our Republic by calling our once honest silver dollar dishonest, while they are the people who made it such, is adding insult to injury. The masses of our voters of this Republic, rarely, or ever, see a gold dollar or handle gold of any kind. Silver is about the only money they see (and not much of that these hard times), and I think it ought to be made as good in value for them as gold is for the rich.

That is precisely the vice of the arguments of the Carissie faction which Mr. Fishback has answered in the Post-Dispatch. In my "Financial Philosophy" I have established the principle that the use of silver supplemented by gold, as money, simited only by Nature's generosky and man's industry, is a natural right; and to interfere with it is tyranny and usurpation. This being the case Mr. Carilsie is estopped from raising any question of expediency in the case.

NEW VERSION OF THE DUEL

when the duelling party crossed the Mississippi River have been published and Souther now fills in that most important part of the day's proceedings. Souther, who is 73 years of age, has for years been a clerk in the office of the Auditor of the Santa Fe Railway system in this seity, though the greater portion of his life has been spent as a printer and newspaper man. Up to the time of the arrival of the dueling party at the Alton ferry the story he tells is very similar to the ones heretofore printed, but from there it differs widely. Souther relates that in order to witness the duel he agreed to drive the horses which propelled the ferry beat carrying the distinguished party.

"Arriving on the opposite shore," says Souther, "which was a wilderness of timber, a spot partly cleared was selected as the battleground. Shields took a seat on a fallen log on one side of the clearing and Lincoln seated himself on another at the opposite side. The seconds then proceeded to cut a pole about twelve feet long and two stakes were crotched in the end. The stakes were driven in the ground and the pole laid across the crotches, so that it rested about three feet above the ground. The men were to stand on either side of this pole and fight across it. A line was drawn on the ground on both sides three feet from the pole, with the understanding that if either combatant stepped back across his own line, it was to be considered a giving up of the fight.

"After all these arrangements had been completed the executed with the understanding that it either combatant stepped back across his own line, it was to be considered a giving up of the fight.

"I watched Lincoln closely while he sat on his log awaiting the signal to fight. His face was grave and serious. I could discern nothing suggestive of 'Old Abe' as we knew him. I never knew him to go so long before without making a joke, and I began to believe he was getting frightened. But presently he reached over and picked up one of the swords, which he drew from its scabbard. Then he felt along the edge of the weapon with his thumb, like a barber feels of the edge of his razor, stretched himself to his full height, stretched out his long arms and clipped off a twig from a tree above his head with the sword. There was not another man of us who could have reached anywhere near that twig and the absurdity of that long reaching fellow fighting with cavalry sabers with Shields, who could walk under his arm, came pretty opear making me how with laughter. After Lincoln had cut, off the twig he returned the sword to the scabbard with a sigh and sat down, but I detected the gleam in his eye, which was always the forerunner of one of his lnimitable yarns, and fully expected him to tell a side-splitter right there in the shadow of the grave-Shields' grave. In the shadow of the grave—Shields' grave.
"After things had been adjusted at the duelling ground we returned to the ferry boat, everybody chatting in the most friend-ly manner possible."

Russia's Expedition to Abyssinia Welcomed by Menelik.

NEW YORK, May 11.-A dispatch to the Herald from St. Petersburg says: Gen. Shvedoff, head of the Russian Red to Abyssinia, telegraphs saying that he and arms, and that the Negus Menelik is making extensive preparations for their passage to Harrar.

The Russian Red Cross expedition to Abyssinia left Odessa early in April. This is the third Russian expedition to Abyssinia. The first, under the Cossack Ashinoff, left in December, 1888, and ended by being shelled by the French at Sagallo. The second, which was called a scientific mission, left about eighteen months ago and resulted in the arrival in St. Petersburg of a political embassy from the Negus, with a special mission respecting the religion of the Russian Church and the faith professed by the Abyssinians. The present mission, under the command of Gen. Shvedoff, assisted by several military officers, consists of about eighty members, of which the medical staff numbers six doctors and twelve nurses. Of the other members of the expedition little is stated, except that one is a priest who is taking 20,00 small crosses to distribute among the Abyssinians. It is expected in Russian official circles that this expedition will give Russia that footing in Abyssinia which she has been so patiently trying to obtain.

FREE SILVER

IN KENTUCKY

Sentiment Very Strong All Over the State.

THE BIG GUNS ARRIVING.

Blackburn and Carlisle to Be on the Ground This Week and Marshal Opposing Forces.

Special to The Post-Dispatch. LEXINGTON, May 11.—The fight between he free silver and gold standard Democrat in Kentucky is growing hotter every day. Senator Blackburn is expected home this week and he will go on the stump to advocate sending free silver delegates to the Chicago Convention. The silver men have been doing effective work during the past few weeks in precinct meetings throughout the State. The farming element is about three to one in favor of free silver, and in the rural precincts they have passed strong resolutions denouncing for the last three months against a woman, merely because she was a woman, and was taking business from them, has ended disastrously for the most ungallant gentlemen. They have been forced to eat crow. The firm of F. D. Hirschberg & Bro., which was expelled from the board because they were loyal to a widow of a former employe, has been reinstated. Public opinion, aroused by the Post-Dispatch, simply overwhelmed the insurance men and they had to step aside or get hurt.

When the fire underwriters got on their high horse and informed the Hirschbergs that they would either have to discharge first developed to be thus coerced and they were expelled.

Then the Post-Dispatch took up the fight for the plucky widow and showed just how and why the underwriters wanted her out of the business. She could write premiums where some of the husky able bodied males couldn't get past the office boys. This was why they did not like her and they were going to blacklist and keep her from making a living.

At one as the public understood this—the hustness has the public understood this—the awoman the insurance business was to be barred to her—it went to her rescue and immediately after the Post-Dispatch nounced the expulsion of the Hirschbergs on her account she began doing more business men who sympathized with many the men who were standing by her telephoned to her to come to their offices and write them insurance. She got more to do than she couldattend to and as a result she is now building an 18,000 house with money she earned.

All this was costing the disgruntled underwriters money, but they had their backs up and wouldn't come down. But the companies whose agencies they hold here noticed that something was wrong with their money whose agencies they hold here noticed that something was wrong with their money whose agencies they hold here noticed that something was wrong with their money whose agencies they hold here noticed that something was wrong with their money whose agencies they hold here noticed that something was wron per cent of them being for the gold standard.

State Senator Charles J. Bronston, a sound money man, admitted yesterday that it looked very much as if the silver Democrats would control the coming State Convention. The advocates of silver firmly believe they will control the convention, and that Mr. Carlisle will be completely turned down. One enthusiastic free silver Democrat said to-day that Dr. Bolling ought to be put up for Congress from the Seventh District. That the silver movement is rapidly growing in Kentucky all conservative students of politics admit, and from present indications it would not be surprising if that element dominates the State Convention in June.

SHOCKED BY HIGH KICKING

The Cranford Country Club Went Too . Far in Its Minstrel Show.

special to the Post-Dispatch. ELIZABETH, N. J., May 11.—Cranford society is laboring under much indignatio over what the women called an outrage in flicted by the Country Club, which gave a minstrel performance on Wednesday evening.

"Proto," who had no other name on the programme, was the one who created all the trouble. She proved to be a danseuse who wore an abbreviated costume and to the tune of lively music danced all the dances known to the vaudeville stage, including a can-can, the coochee-coochee and some special steps and gyrations of her own which elicited uproarious applause from the front rows and the gallery, but only astonishment from the body of the house. The premiere was repeatedly recalled, and, as she began her dance, one of the women in the orchestra said: "Shocking!"

It was time to call a halt and for some of the women to retire, taking their unwilling escorts with them.

The managers of the show attempted to smooth the affair over by saying they did not know the dancer was going to be so reckless, but the older women in the audience replied that there was an unseemly great haste on the part of the male performers to reach the front seats just before "Proto" came on.

Detroit Union Fighting for an Advance and Eight Hours a Day.

DETROIT, Mich., May 11.—Over $80 union carpenters assembled in Central Labor Union Hall this morning instead of going to work. The strike is in accordance with the action of last Friday night, when it was unanimously determined to strike for eight hours a day at Z cents per hour. The bosses are willing to make a minimum wage of 20 cents an hour, and promise to concede an eight hour day Jan. I next.

At this morning's meeting addresses were made by leaders of the craft. A motion to permit employes of contractors who might yield the eight hour day to return to work, was defeated. There are many non-union carpenters in the city, although the law workmen are generally included in the unions, which have upward of 1,000 members.

Better use them this way. if you don't use Pearline. Give your tired arms and aching back a rest, somehow, when you're scrubbing and cleaning.

"An absurd idea?" Of course, But when a person has cleaned house with Pearline, year in and year out, and knows how much work it saves, and time, and rubbing, nothing seems more absurd than to try to clean house without it. Pearline—no soap with it—just Pearline—makes house-cleaning easy.

YENT TO SLEEP IN AN OPEN CAR

As a Consequence Machinist Eugene Francis Is Dead.

NO ONE SAW HIM FALL OUT

The Crew of a Southern Electric Car Found Mim Dying on the Return Trip.

Eugene Francis, a machinist, 28 years old, who lived alone at 2679 Blow street, was riding in a south-bound motor car of the Southern Electric line on Broadway at 1:10 o'clock Monday morning. At Bowen street he fell out, Striking the pavement he received injuries from which he died at 8 o'clock in the City Hospital.

Neither the motorman nor conductor saw him fall and for twenty-five minutes Francis lay unconscious in the street.

Neither the motorman nor conductor saw him fail and for twenty-five minutes Francis lay unconscious in the street.

Francis had been to a theater Sunday night with some acquaintances and after the show they drank considerable beer. At 12:25 he caught the car to Carndelet and while on the way there went to sleep. He occupied a seat in the front car, No. 126, and was nearest the west side of the car. When the train got into Carondelet there were but few passengers aboard and the conductor, Robert Wright, went forward to converse with the motorman. While he was standing with his back to the interior of the car Francis fell out.

Francis' head struck the granite paving blocks and his skull was broken. He never regained consciousness.

As car No. 126 approached Bowen street from the south on its return trip the motorman saw a man lying in the street and stopped the car. The bright light from the car showed the conductor and motorman the face of the man who had ridden down with them, but whom they did not see get off. It was Francis.

An ambulance took him to the City Hospital where Drs. Sutter and O'Connor found that the skull over the left eye had been crushed in, that the brain was compressed and ruptured.

THE METHODIST CONFERENCE

Saratoga Gets in First Bid for the Next Meeting.

don presided this morning at the opening of the M. E. General Conference.

of the M. E. General Conference.

The first business of the day was the introduction of a resolution which provided that all future sessions of the conference be held in church buildings, if possible, and that the Committee on Entertainment for 1898 be so instructed. It was promptly laid on the table.

Another resolution provided that the delegates, being appreciative of the manner in which they had and are being entertained in this city, that all cities making a bid for the conference should have it followed with a guarantee of as good treatment and under the same system and method. It was adopted.

with a guarantee of as good treatment and under the same system and method. It was adopted.

A resolution to prevent a duplication of studies in the church schools and public chools in the South was read, but referred to the Committee on Freedman's Ald.

Rev. B. F. Wittlerspoon of Southern California presented a resolution declaring that color and caste do not enter into the concerne and further declaring that the election of a Bishop of African descent should be viewed solely in the light of ability and without regard to color. It was presented or adoption, but the conference referred it to the Committee on Episcopacy.

The first formal application for the concerne of 1800 was presented by Saratoga springs, N. Y., and was referred to the Committee on Entertainment.

The Committee on Freedman's Ald made to first report on a petition from the Delavare conference to clange the name to outhern Education Society. The Upper fississippi conference protested against his. The report of the committee was in avor of retaining the name as it is now. The question was debated at some length in avor of retaining the name as it is now. The question was debated at some length in the property of the committee was the day or election of officers. In making his moon Dr. Lanihan moved to reconsider the vote published.

by which monday near was set as the day for election of officers. In making his motion Dr. Lanihan said the reasons were manifest why an earlier election would be desirable and that more business can be transacted. A general smile was the result of this statement. Dr. Lanihan's motion was carried almost unanimously. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday were set.

Dr. Buckley made a most humorous argument in favor of Thursday. He referred to the Sabbath and humorously portrayed the temptaation to break the Sabbath, not by candidates, but by their ardent friends, and begged that Thursday be substituted. This date was selected and the elections will begin on Thursday of this week.

Dr. Walden then introduced to the con-erence Rev. Dr. R. F. Rust of Cincinnati, who was his colleague in the managing of he book concern.

Rev. H. Wilber of Illinois presented a esolution which proposed to reduce the alaries of all officers missionaries and eneral conference officers, in view of the reneral depression in business and finances.

The protest was entered, but the resolution rate referred to the Committee on Tem-oral Economy.

DOVER, Del., May II.—The Republican Biate Convention for the selection of delegates to the National Convention at St. Louis will meet here to-morrow it will be controlled by the friends of J. Edward Addicks, who have at least 101 of the 160 delegates to the Convention will choose delegates to the Republican National Convention and adopt a platform Mr. Addicks will head the delegation to St. Louis and two of the others will be J. Frank Allee of Dever and Dr. Hiram R. Burton of Lewes. The delegation will not be instructed. Mr. Addicks believes that the six votes of Delaware should be held in reserve, so as to go to the winner when the decisive times comes, and his views will probably be adopted.

THE OUSTER CASES.

Arguments For and Against Bus and Rebenack Heard.

The quo warranto proceedings against Henry Bus and H. H. Rebenack, to oust them from the St. Louis School Board, were argued before the Supreme Court en banc Monday and were submitted.

Judge Chester H. Krum, who instituted the proceedings through Attorney-General Walker, argued at length on the proposition that Bus, in accepting the position of Deputy Sheriff, had relinquished his seat in the board. He cited numerous cases in support of his contention. The case for Bus was argued by Attorney Ford Smith. The question in Bus' case turns chiefly on the question of law.

In the case of H. H. Rebenack the question is largely one of fact. Judge Krum argued for the State in this case also and held that Rebenack had not only falled to pay a school tax for two years prior to his election, but was also interested in contracts for supplies for the school. Attorney August Rebenack, brother of the defendant, was the opposing counsel.

relations between Grace Church and its pastor, Rev. H. J. Mulholland, at a meeting Monday. The vote stood it for and a against.

In March a number of the members of Grace Church petitioned the Presbytery to remove Rev. Mulholiand. It was charged that his outside business interfered with his church duties.

The presbytery appointed a committee, consisting of Dr. H. Magill, Dr. John Weston, Dr. G. W. Weyer and Bider Robert Rankin, to investigate the spiritual and financial affairs of the church.

The committee held ten meetings, but could get no statement from Rev. Mulholiand nor the session of Grace Church.

The committee made three reports to the Presbytery and then it was ordered that a congregational meeting of Grace Church be held and the retention of Rev. Mulholiand left to the church. The vote stood 65 to release him and 23 to retain him.

The committee so reported Monday. A resolution was offered to sever the relations between the pastor and the church. After a bitter and personal argument the resolution carried.

John Kansteiner Injured in a Buggy Accident at Hannibal.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

HANNIBAL, Mo., May 11.—John Kansteiner, an old gentleman of St. Louis, who has been visiting his brother, William Kansteiner, met with a very serious accident last evening, which may result fatally. He was out buggy riding when the horse became frightened at a passing train and capsized the buggy. His collar bone and nose were broken and it is thought he is injured internally. He is about 60 years old.

A visitor from Sikeston, Mo., who was on the floor last week, writes that since his return home be has had numerous talks with farmers. They tell him the army worm is still destroying wheat and they cannot raise over half a crop.

Russia shipped 4,040,000 bu wheat last week, exceeding week before by 1,016,000 bu, but 152,000 bu smaller than corresponding week last year. Corn exports 64,000 bu, against 40,000 bu the week before.

bu smaller than corresponding week last year. Corn exports 64,000 bu, against 40,000 bu the week before.

Bradstreet's makes the statement that the theoretical consumption of wheat in this country should be 5.38 per capita, instead of 4.66, as has been munal. Basing this estimate will not be agreed to by the trade at large, as there has been nothing in changes in supplies and amounts on hand to indicate any such increase in requirements, but rather the reverse, especially considering the increase in the population of the United States, 42 the population of 65,000,000 (and it is nearer 70,000,600), there would be required for domestic consumption 350,000,000 hallowing for seeding and export, there should not be a bushel of wheat left in this country on July 1, which is ridiculous.

THE INVESTITURE OF THE PALLIUM

Archbishop Kain Receives the Final Insignia of Office.

THE CATHEDRAL CROWDED.

Cardinal Gibbons Celebrated High Mass and Bishop Keans of Washington Preached the Sermon.

Most Rev. John J. Kain was invested with the pallium, the emblem of his office as Archbishop, at the Cathedral on Walnut street, near Second, Sunday morning. The ceremony was performed with all the pomp of which the ritual of the Roman Catholic Cardinal Gibbons, several Archbishops, a in St. Louis.

score of bishops and a large number of priests took part, in the day's services and priests took part, in the day's services and made the occasion a memorable one.

The church was crowded almost to suffocation by a throng that did not seem to mind four hours of close confinement. The music and decorations were of a high order and suited to the occasion.

At 10 o'clock the procession of prelates and priests left the sacristy and marched through the church yard to Walnut street and then up the stone steps into the church and forward to the sanctuary. Cardinal Gibbons occupied the throne on the left of the altar and Archbishop Kain the one on the right. The other prelates present were Archbishops Chapelle, Katzer, Janssen, Ireland, Ryan, Feehan and Elder; Bishops O'Gorman, Donohue, Glennon, Horsteinan, Cotter, McGoldrick, Van de Viver, Foley, Janssens, Ryan, Fink, Keane, Burke, Bonacum, Fizzgerald, O'Sullivan, Michaud, Hogan and Burk. Fr. Edward McGlynn of New York and Abbot Frowin Conrad were also in attendance.

The investure of the Archbishop was the last event of the services It was preceded.

Hogan and Burk. Fr. Edward McGlynn of New York and Abbot Frowin Conrad were also in attendance.

The investure of the Archbishop was the last event of the services. It was preceded by solemn high mass, which was celeprated by Cardinal Gibbons. Vicar General Muchislepen was assistant priest; Revs. E. J. Shea and J. Hoffmann, deacons of honor to the Cardinal; Revs. Wm. Walsh and Grimmelsman, deacons of honor to Archbishop Kain; Rev. Joseph Schaeffers and P. W. Tallon, deacon and sub-deacon of the mass; Rev. Martin S. Brennan, master of ceremonics, assisted by Reva. John Tanrath and Thos. Walsh; Masters Edward and Joseph Mueller of the Cardinal, and Masters Julius Albrecht and Eugene Gummersbach, pages to the Cardinal, and Masters Julius Albrecht and Eugene Gummersbach, pages to Archbishop Kain.

The choir which sang the mass, consisted of 120 voices and was directed by Prof. A. C. Enner. The instrumental music was rendered by twenty-seven players from the Choral Symphony Orchestra.

Immediately after mass, Bishop Keane, rector of the Catholic University at Washington, D. C., preached the sermon of the day. He took for his text Christ's command to Peter, "Feed My Sheep," and spoke of the Archiepiscopal office and its attendant duties and responsibilities. He said that the Pope, by bestowing the pallium on Archbishop Kain, made him a sharer in the duties of the Pontifi. These duties consist in the perpetuation of the mission of Jesus Christ, the Good Shepherd, and this mission is the outpouring of the blessings which flow from the infinite love.

Of the pallium he said: "An ancient writer gives us, the significance of this dwelled upon the power and efficacy of the divine love.

Of the pallium he said: "An ancient writer gives us the significance of this vestment. He says: 'It is made, not of linen, but of wool, in order that it may symbolize the stray sheep which were brought back by the Good Shepherd,' and the pontiff who wears it must show his life the characteristics of the Good Shepherd. The humera was called a mantle, and, at least in the age of the Emperor Augustine, it resembled in style the mantle worn by emperors and their representatives. But in proportion as our Lord's empire of love shone forth in absolute distinction from the empire of Caesar, the pallium lost its resemblance to the imperial robe, and assumed the shape of the yoke or ephod.

"And again, according as the church recognized that the See of Peter had become the only apostolic see, so it was recognized that the pallium, which is the symbol of the apostolic solicitude and authority, was limited to Peter's successor and to those who, throughout the world, should be his vicars and representatives.

Bishop Keane explained that the pallium had been consecrated from the wool of two tion which solemnized the ceremony of investiture.

At the close of the sermon, the investiture took place. Archbishop Kain kneeled in front of Cardinal Gibbons at the altar and read in Latin his oath of office. The Cardinal then placed the pallium on the shoulders of the Archbishop. The latter and the Cardinal returned to their thrones and all the dignitaries filed in front of the Archbishop and kissed his ring.

Very Rev. Fr. Muchislepen, the Vicar-General, then read a congratulatory address to the newly-invested prelate in the name of his priests. Hon. R. Graham Frost then addressed the Archbishop in behalf of the latity and voiced the happiness of the faithful at his investiture with the insignia of his office.

Archbishop Kain, in reply, thanked the priests and laily for their kindly words and expressed his gratitude to the visiting prelates and priests for their presence.

At 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop Kain, six Archbishops, fourteen Bishops and 150 priests had a banquet at the Kenrick Seminary.

This evening Cardinal Gibbons will hold a reception at the Marquette Club.

Relieved of the Management of the Browns for Bad Work.

CROSS IS MADE CAPTAIN.

Instead of Being Assaulted by Thugs, Diddlebock Fell Off a Steol While Drunk.

The Board of Directors of Sportsman's Park held a special meeting at the clubhouse yesterday morning to investigate the of Manager Harry H. Diddlebock.

There were present at the meeting President Von der Ahe, Dr. O. E. Forster, Henry Lihou, J. W. Peckington, Walter Hetzel and Secretary Muckenfuss.

Manager Diddlebock was also presen nore in the character of a defendant than anything else.

The detective employed by Mr. Von der he to investigate Mr. Diddlebock's movements during the night of May 7, on which the manager claimed to have been assaulted, made his report. In substance it was as follows:

The Browns and Orioles will play the second game of their series this afternoon. Breitenstein will pitch and with a united team working under Capt. Cross the Browns should win hands down. Play will be called ments during the night of May 7, on which the manager claimed to have been assaulted, made his report. In substance it was as follows:

Mr. Diddlebock left Sportsman's Park at 11:30 p. m. Thursday night in company with several convivial spirits. After a rapid trip around the downtown liquor resorts, they pulled up at Faust's. Here wine flowed like water and by midnight the entire party was in an advanced stage of bibulous hilarity.

According to the detective's report the party then made a tour of the "burnt" district and spent some time in a notorious negro dive on South Sixth street. When they left there they were very much under the weather.

Diddlebock, according to the report, drove home in a carriage. He got out at Vandeventer and Finney avenues and went into a neighboring saloon. After remaining there a short time he came out and crossing to the northwest corner of Finney and Vandeventer, sat on a stool generally used by the distributors of transfer street car tickets at that point.

After seating himself the Browns manager went to sleep, and while in this stuporous condition fell eff the chair and sustained the cuts and bruises on the face, which, he says, were inflicted by six ruffians.

The report goes on to say that Diddlebock was picked up by a policeman and escorted to his home nearby and that he was in an intoxicated condition when he reached there. A doctor was called to attend him and found him in this condition.

The detective closed by stating that the story of the alleged assault by thugs was solely the creation of Mr. Diddlebock's brain, gotten up to square himself in the eyes of his employer and the community.

Diddlebock denied the truth of the report, the affirms that he was not intoxicated, that he did not fall off a chair and that he was assaulted. He asked that expert medical testimony be taken as to the nature of his injuries, claiming that it would conclusively prove that he could not have sustained his injuries to fall in the report the board came to the conclusion that it would con weighed heavily with the Police Commissioner.

There is little doubt that Diddlebock will go. The directors feel that his conduct on other occasions prior to Thursday was not at all becoming and that it would be fatal to allow a drinking man to have control of the ball team.

"A manager who carouses sets a poor example to his players," said one of the directors. "We know that Diddlebock was not as circumspect as he should be and we are reluctantly compelled to let him go."

While the board was about it they gave the team a general shaking up. Latham was deprived of the captaincy and temporary management and, with Niland, was sent to the bench. Monte Cross was made permanent captain and given full charge of the team. Parrott was reinstated in right field and Sheehan retired to the bench. The directors felt that these changes were absolutely necessary. The playing of the team for the three days during which Latham was in charge has been disgraceful. The other players were utterly unable to do themselves justice. A feeling of nervousness ranged the biggest pugilistic tournament ever held in this city. If the programme is carried out it will include four set-tos between eight of the prominent fighters in this part of the world at present.

The programme as planned is to consist of ten-round set-tos between Sharkey and Tom Williams of Salt Lake, Danny Needham and Billy Gallagher, Patsy Corrigan (the Australian cyclone) and Billy Smith, the Australian, and Arthur Walker and Fred Muller of the San Francisco Athletic Club. The contests are virtually settled, and it Latham was in charge has been disgraced. The other players were utterly unable to do themselves justice. A feeling of nervousness and shakiness pervaded the entire team and it was "up in the air."

Latham was no sooner made manager than Cross was put out of the game. Monte pleaded sickness. It was mental agitation rather than physical illness that distressed the brilliant shortstop. He thought that Latham was his enemy and he could not play. Niland, Latham's protege, was put in his place.

fact that Latham was his sponsor militated against him. He and Latham were practically boycotted by the other members of the team.

At best Niland is only a minor leaguer. He was released by the Grand Rapids and Toledo clubs, the tail-enders of last year's Western League. He is away below League standard and Cross outclasses him two to one as a shortstop.

Niland gave an awful exhibition in yesterday's game. He started out with a couple of bad errors and the spectators, who were aware of the fact that he only held the position because he was a favorite of Latham's, gave him an unmerciful "roasting." Their jeers and hisses so unnerved the boy that he did not know what he was doing. He "fell all over himself," to use a slang expression, and made not less than five errors, besides letting several easy grounders go by him. The crowd yelled for Cross until Niland must have wished himself dead.

Latham was on the coaching lines. In the eighth inning he coached Niland to stay on third when the runner should have been over the plate, as he started from first on a triple by McFarland to center. The play almost brought the spectators out of the stand to mob Latham. They made the roof shake with their execrations. Latham grew pallid with fear and nobody could help pitying him. He looked like an exhausted hare in front of a pack of eager hounds.

Poor Latham. Six years ago he was the idol, the king of the same people who yesterday were howling for his blood. He had only to wink to convulse them with laughter. His appearance was enough to bring a roar of enthusiasm, that caused stands to shake. His personal popularity was greater than that of any ball player in America. The foremost citizens of St. Louis were proud to shake him by the hand.

To-day the small boy Jeers him as he passes by. Players who ofttimes climbed a telegraph pole to see the great Latham play, look down upon him with contempt.

a telegraph pole to see the great Latham play, look down upon him with contempt.

Mr. Von der Ahe did a sensible thing when he restored Breitenstein to good standing yesterday morning. If the owner of the St. Louis Club would sleep over a whole lot of things and talk to Muckenfuss in the morning, he would save himself a lot of trouble and many grievous mistakes. Breitenstein should never have been humiliated by a threat of suspension. The lad has done great work this year and has put many a dollar in his employer's coffers. He is in perfect condition.

Some malicious individual wrote him a letter telling him that Breitenstein was individual wrote him a letter telling him that Breitenstein was individual wrote him a letter telling him that Breitenstein was individual wrote him a letter telling him that Breitenstein was individual wrote him a letter telling him that Breitenstein was individual wrote him a letter telling him that Breitenstein was instaken he himself acknowledged by his lection in reinstating the great pitcher.

The retirement of Latham was also a wise move. The players would not do good work for him. They distrusted and letested him. Cross is a popular man, knows the game thoroughly and should prove a good captain.

Parrott's return to right field is also a good move. "Tacks" fielded the position well, but could not hit. He claimed that here was no bat in the club's equipment ong esseugh for him. So Secretary fuck-influss sent to Chickso for two of the big-

"He was continually trying to get Niland into Cross' place at short. Monte knew this and was very sore. He was also after Meyers, but Bert is a confident young fellow, who played a great game and gave his envious rival the laugh.

After such a successful demonstration of its utility the Fair Association official cannot afford to delay any longer in adopting the best device obtainable and insisting on its use. There was a delay of forty-five minutes at the post in the lnaugural, and the total time lost during the afternoon amounted to an hour and a haif. It was 6:% o'clock when the last race was finished. This delay can be avoided by the use of the machine and the last race run by a quarter after five o'clock. This would popularize the racing with hundreds of people who like to see the card out, but who do not care to miss their dinners to do 40. him.

"When I was suspended several of the players came to see me. They told me that they could not play for Latham, as they hated him and their heart was not in the game. I begged them to do the best they could for my sake, as any display of disaffection on their part would reflect discredit on me.

An excellent card of six well filled races is offered for Monday. Flying Dutchman, Vassal, Sir Play and several other good horses will come together in the last number on the programme. On Tuesday the first of the overnight handicaps which promise to become so popular with the owners and the public will be run.

Forget's race in the Inaugural shows that the Post-Dispatch was right in saying that she was not up to a race at that distance. The filly should not have been started. Sir Play was wisely scratched. That good mare Linda ran poorly, and was evidently not in form. The Cahns started her more to try her out than in any hope of landing the stake. A couple of weeks going will bring Linda around and then she will demonstrate her ability to earn her oats.

The well, for such it has been decided to be by men acquainted with oil, was discovered by workmen who are digging the foundations for a large ware-house. They reported the oil flow to a member of the firm that is doing the excavating. It was thought at first that he had struck an oid cistern, but the deeper he dug the more freely the oil flowed. Oil spouted all along the northern side of the excavation, and it was soon found necessary to rig pumps to carry it off, as it flooded the place and made it impossible to continue digging. Pumps carried the petroleum off by the corner sewer, but they could not stop the stench, and many of the workmen have been overcome by it and forced to quit work temporarily, while passers-by hold their noses for a block in either direction.

WAS HE GEORGE TAYLOR?

The Police Chased a Suspicion Stranger Supposed to Be Him. The St. Louis police got after George

The St. Louis police got after George Taylor Friday, but as they did not catch him they said nothing about it.

Friday morning the Mounted District got word that a man supposed to be the escaped murderer had been seen on the Columbia Bottom road. He answered the descriptions of Taylor that have been sent broadcast through the State, and the farmers up that way were greatly excited. The stranger first appeared in John Degele's asloon at 10785 Columbia Bottoms road. He asked for a giass of beer and inquired of the proprietor how he could get a skiff to go over the river.

As he seemed very nervous, Degele became suspicious and the man hurried away. The saloonkeeper immediately conconcluded that the stranger was George Taylor. He was seen to go down towards the river and follow the bank as though looking for a skiff.

A telephone message was sent to the Suxth District, and Officers Ryder and Griffield took a hand-car at Baden. They pumped up to the saloon and got on the failow's track, but as he had a three hours start they soon lost all track of him.

If it was really George Taylor he has

PETER HAUPTMANN & CO

W. J. Meyers, who is station agent at Job's Station on the Col bus, Hocking Valley & Toledo Railway, in the State of Ohio. has knowledge of the remarkable case of Mr. W. C. Hoodlet, who relates under the date of July 26, 1895: "For some years past I have been employed under mothe earth, from one and a half to two miles from the mouth of the mi digging coal. The great distance under the hills makes it impossible for me to get pure air, which is forced to us by the aid of great fans. During breaks in machinery the air would become bad, causing first great pains in my head, dizziness and fainting This continued until next was pains in my stomach, then indigestion and dyspeps Working hard fi the mines, I maturally was a hearty eater, until at last I had dyspepsia so bad I suffered terrible. My family physician prescribed for me, but I only got worse. I took several kinds of medicine. I seen Ripans tabules advertised, in Farm and Fireside, and going to the drug store," found none, so I went to Nelsonville and found them on sale and bought a box. I took several doses, and felt better next day. In three days I was a new man, Bad air has no use for me now, and my head is clear, stomach well, no dyspepsia.
These Ripans Tabules done it.
